Course Description

Fundamental in Information systems; systems and application software; computer hardware; Introduction to computer programming: procedural and object oriented programming; Data base management information systems; management information subsystems in education: human resource management systems, student management information systems, electronic management of student records and operations. Data collection on information, submitting, evaluating, giving feedback of computer based assignments. Impact of ICT on teaching, curriculum and management in educational environment.